

SAVE THE DATE!

November 30, 2010, 7 p.m.

Minnesota Identity and the Arts

A free public discussion at Intermedia Arts

What does it mean to be a Minnesotan, and how has that identity been shaped by our artists and storytellers?
How has our rich artistic culture shaped the way we think about themselves, each other and the rest of the world? Is there such a thing as a shared Minnesota culture and how has art shaped it?

Featuring presentations by photographer Wing Young Huie, choreographer Ananya
Chatterjea, and TV/web producer Chuck Olsen (TPT's MN Original)
Listen, watch, then join in the Q&A as Andy Sturdevant moderates this exciting cultural event!

Presented by the Minneapolis Arts Commission, WorksProgress, and Intermedia Arts
Sponsored by 89.3 The Current, Minnesota Monthly, and Secrets of the City

Time: November 30, 7 p.m. Doors open: 6:30 p.m., drinks and refreshments served, reception with the artists afterward

Location: Intermedia Arts, 2822 South Lyndale Avenue, Minneapolis, MN 55408

Cost: Free

Info: Intermediaarts.org

More details on Facebook at "Minnesota Identity and the Arts"
Visit our sponsors at mpr.org, mnmo.com, secretsofthecity.com